DGCA kicks off audit of charter operators

DEEPAK PATEL
New Delhi, 10 February

ILLUSTRATION: BINAY SINHA

Checking in

- The DGCA has constituted separate audit teams for each operator
- Audit teams to submit final reports within 10 days of completing inspections
- Findings expected to highlight safety gaps or non-compliance issues

The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) is auditing 14 charter flight operators as part of a special safety oversight exercise, according to an order issued by the regulator. It says that the field inspections are underway and the first phase is expected to be completed by February 25.

The exercise, titled "Special Safety Audit Plan 2026 - Phase 1", was ordered on February 2 and inspections began on February 9. The wide-ranging audit comes in the aftermath of the plane crash in Baramati on January 28 in which Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar and four others died. The charter flight was operated by Delhi-based non-scheduled operator VSR Ventures.

VSR Ventures is not part of the Special Safety Audit Plan Phase-1 and is being audited separately by a six-member team of the DGCA. The regulator has asked the team to submit VSR's audit report by February 15. On February 2, the DGCA issued an order identifying a set of operators for inspection in the first phase to check compliance with airworthiness and operational requirements.

These include Air Charter Services, A R Airways, Arrow Aircrafts Sales & Charters, Chipsan Aviation and Deccan Charters. The list also includes Global Vectra Helicorp, Indo Pacific Aviation, India FlySafe Aviation, Karnavati Aviation and state-owned helicopter operator Pawan Hans.

In addition, DGCA teams were inspecting Rajas Aerospots and Adventures (Aero Safari), Red-bird Airways, Reliance Commercial Dealers and Zest Aviation.

According to the February 2 order, the regulator had constituted separate audit teams for each operator, comprising deputy directors, assistant directors, flight operations inspectors and senior flight operations inspectors, to conduct the inspections of the aforementioned 14 charter flight operators.

The DGCA has directed the audit teams to submit their final reports to its headquarters within 10 days of completing inspections.

The findings are expected to highlight any safety gaps or non-compliance issues, following which the regulator may take further action.

The audit is part of the DGCA's broader effort to tighten safety oversight and standardise operational practices across the charter and private aviation segment.

India long-term contributor to Coca-Cola's growth: CEO

SHARLEEN D'SOUZA
Mumbai, 10 February

Coca-Cola told its investors in a conference call post its October-December earnings that India was a long-term contributor to volume growth.

"India is a long-term contributor to volume growth. So, that needs to build back and we would expect that to ramp up during the year," James Quincey (pictured), chairman and chief executive officer at The Coca-Cola Company told investors in its post earnings call.

Henrique Braun, executive vice-president and chief operating officer (to be the next CEO) at the Atlanta-based beverage major also told investors on the conference call that the company has been investing with its partners ahead of the curve.

"We will continue to invest because this is a market for the future. We're still building the industry there and that's why we need to continue to invest ahead of the curve... because really on these markets, you can actually continue to push forward," he said.

He said digital continues to be an opportunity in India because of the country's robust infrastructure.

"We have also invested behind it (digital) with a lot of focus on not only engaging with the consumer through data tech and AI and but also from a customer point of view, developing a platform that we call Coke Buddy, which is a platform that connects the bottler to the customers through a digital platform that has been growing from day one. We still had one-fourth of the entire outlet base that we can reach in India. But we think that we are already deploying digital ordering on AI. It will determine the next best SKU (stock-keeping unit)."

He said that the next phase of that growth will be an end-to-end digital platform.

"So, India for those reasons is a market that in that space, it's going to continue to be ahead of the pack as well," he added.
